

Ivanenko Mikhail.

Coding interests.

I can estimate that I am really good at backend, API development and business processes analysis and implementation. Also I have an ability to search bugs and manually test applications, so it would be great to focus on automatic testing, because it is reducing workload.

I am quite good at frontend development and it would be nice to develop such skills.

Also I am interested in algorithm development and implementation.